

Paul Thompson

Chief Revenue Officer

Paul is responsible for leading Blis' commercial expansion across the global alongside a team of truly talented and inspirational people.

Over the last 25 years Paul's career has seen him work in roles that cover media agency, media owner, sales, communication planning, digital media, mobile and programmatic. Paul has worked at BBH, Motive, Dentsu Aegis, Publicis, News International and Yahoo!

Today Blis has offices in 21 countries selling location data, location insights and location based campaigns to the world's biggest advertisers. In just 4 years Blis has gone from one office in London to being a world leader in the location advertising technology.

Paul has been privileged to work for and learn from some of the best people in the media industry and considers himself incredibly lucky to still be learning everyday.
